100 YEARS OF AUSTRALIAN RED CROSS

As part of the world's largest humanitarian movement, Red Cross has been woven into the fabric of Australian life for 100 years. Beginning as the Australian Branch of the British Red Cross Society on 13 August 1914 at Government House Melbourne, nine days after the outbreak of World War I, today over one million Red Cross members, volunteers, donors, staff, blood donors, recipients and supporters across Australia make a positive difference to the lives of people in need every day. In collaborative with the local Red Cross Branch, this exhibition celebrates Australian Red Cross's journey to reach this momentous milestone.
